

“THE THING”

You wake up and you see your mum in the sofa watching TV. You go and have breakfast and the day goes chill until someone knocks on the door.

You open and there's no one. You think that is one of those annoying kids that knock the door and then run away.

You look around and you don't see anything and then you start feeling nervous. You turn around. The cupboard door is closing and your mom has disappeared.

Something is inside your house.
